With reference to the special notice in to-day's Colonist signed King Tye & Co., I would beg to inform the trade and public generally that I was not, as stated, discharged from business connected with that firm.

In May, 1884, I became manager in this firm, and up to yesterday, when I tendered my resignation. It is easy to see that all transactions made by me personally, or under my signature as representative of the firm, must be valid, and for which King Tye Co. are responsible.

The sole cause of my resignation was a disagreement with my only resident partner.

AN EASTERN WAR CLOUD.

Uneasy Feeling in Paris and London—The Situation Extremely Critical.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—An uneasy feeling prevailed on the Paris Bourse to-day. Rumors are current to the effect that serious disorders have occurred in Macedonia. The Russian newspapers consider the situation in the Balkans is becoming more critical every day, and they doubt the possibility of restoring the status quo condition. Prince Alexander has issued a circular to the powers, in which he announces the union of Eastern Roumelia and Bulgaria. He says he has accepted the popular election in no hostile spirit to Turkey; he recognized the Sultan's suzerainty, and holds himself responsible for the public security. He asks the powers to intervene in order that the union may be recognized as an accomplished fact; otherwise the people are resolved to do everything that lies in their power to uphold the union. Prince Alexander has also sent a respectful dispatch to the Sultan of Turkey, asking him to recognize the union at Constantinople. There is great excitement over the situation.

The Sultan presided at a council which was called on Sunday last to settle the question of sending troops to Roumelia. Pending decision several battalions of troops have been ordered to concentrate on the Roumelian frontier. The cabinet was divided on the question of sending a force to Roumelia. Some ministers were in favor of dispatching ironclads with troops of Borghas to the seaport towns in Eastern Roumelia, and of hurrying forward other divisions by way of Adrianople and Macedonia. Other members of the cabinet thought that the signers of the Berlin treaty should be consulted before any decisive steps were taken. Ambassadors of the treaty powers at Constantinople were consulted by the Sultan, but they had received no orders from their government as to what course they should pursue. In accordance with wishes of the Sultan they have asked for instructions and are now awaiting replies.

Russians Leaving the Bulgarian Service.

Special to THE TIMES.

PHILLIPPOLIS, Sept. 24.—All the Russian officers in the Bulgarian service have resigned and their places have been filled by Bulgarians. The country is disappointed at the action of the Russians, but the people are not discouraged. Two fully equipped battalions of volunteers have crossed the Balkans and are proceeding into the interior.

Prince Alexander, while inspecting a body of reserves, which were about to start for the frontier, made a brief address to the troops, concluding as follows: My braves, we have no quarrel with the Turks, but if they dispute our action we will fight them to the death, and be assured that I will always be found in the thick of the battle. The Prince's speech was received by the troops with the greatest enthusiasm. The whole province has been declared in a state of seige. Prince Alexander assumes the post of Commander-in-Chief of the entire army, and Major Nicoleff will command the forces of Roumelia.

The Austrian minister attended to-day's cabinet meeting. At a meeting of the leaders of all parties it was resolved to defend, forcibly if necessary, Servia's claims to Northern Macedonia. Troops as rapidly as possibly are being mobilized to start on the march to the frontier.

Turkey Preparing for the Conflict.

Special to THE TIMES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 24.—Several ironclads have been ordered to be in readiness for immediate active service.

Count Nelidoff, Russian Minister, has assured his colleagues that Russia is innocent of any participation in the Roumelian movement. The Turks, however, are convinced that this is an answer to Sir Henry Drummond Wolff's mission, which Russia interprets as a forerunner of an Anglo-Turkish alliance.

The excitement in Macedonia is increasing, and grave events are feared. The Porte is embarrassed to obtain funds for transportation of troops. Turkish vessels have been forbidden to enter the Gulf of Boorgras. The Roumelians are tearing up railways on the frontier, and fortifying other railways. They cut the telegraph lines and endeavored to blow up the bridge over the Martaza river, but were prevented by the timely arrival of a body of Turkish troops, with whom they had a slight skirmish. Turkish funds have fallen heavily in Constantinople.

Russia Again Preparing for War.

Special to THE TIMES.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 25.—The feeling in St. Petersburg, regarding the Roumelian question is hourly growing more warlike. The sympathy of the masses is strongly with the Bulgarians. It is asisted that the Czar has telegraphed the Minister of War to prepare plans for a campaign in the event of the opening of hostilities between Bulgaria and Turkey, as he is determined to support Prince Alexander's scheme of unity between Roumelia and Bulgaria. A prominent Russian gentlemen was interviewed today, and when asked if it was true that the Czar seriously intended to support Bulgaria, and intended going to war with Turkey, replied that Russia would declare war again Turkey the moment the Porte attackes Bulgaria; and added that the Czar is most emphatic in his resolutions to support Bulgaria.

NEVOE VREMYA to-day commenting on Roumelian difficulty hints that it is possible Russian troops may be called upon to occupy Bulgaria.

Ministerial Crisis in Turkey.

Special to THE TIMES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 25.—The ministry has been dismissed and a new cabinet formed with the following changes: Kiamil Pasha, Grand Vizier, in place of Said Pasha, dismissed; Said Pasha, recently ambassador at Berlin, Minister of Foreign Affairs, in place of Assym Pasha, dismissed; Munir Pasha, lately dismissed from office, Minister of Finance, made Minister of the Interior in place of Edem Pasha, who is appointed embassador at Paris; Server Pasha, Senator, Minister of Justice, in place of Hassan Fehmi Pasha, dismissed; Arifi Pasha, Senator, President of Council, in place of Akif Pasha, dismissed; Essad Pasha, ambassador at Paris has been transferred to Berlin.

France Asks Co-operation.

Special to THE TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 24.—The government has asked the co-operation of other powers in urging upon the governments of Servia, Roumania and Greece the necessity of avoiding all agitation respecting the Roumelian difficulty, and not to permit anti-Turkish demonstrations during the present excited state of public feeling in the Balkans.

The Powers Favor a Conference.

Special to THE TIMES.

GENERAL DESPATCHES.

DISFIGURED FOR LIFE.

The Old, Old Story of Deception—Oil of Vitriol Does its Terrible Work.

Special to THE TIMES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—An effort was made last night by several friends of Martin Fuller, into whose face, as mentioned in last night's dispatches, May Jackson threw a bottle of vitriol, to have his identity suppressed. They stated if this were done the authorities of the bank with which Fuller was connected, would, if he recovered his eyesight, be induced to reinstate him in his position. It is however, now, a matter of general public knowledge. This morning it is stated that Fuller was loan teller in the San Francisco Savings Union Bank. He has always borne an excellent character and moved in good society. Although the event took place last Monday evening in a prominent restaurant on Pine street, the affair was kept so secret nothing was publicly known of it until it leaked out through the application made for the arrest of Miss Mary Jackson. In explanation of what induced her to commit such a fearful crime, she says Fuller has systematically deceived her; that he told her he had been divorced from his wife, and promised to marry her, and treated her before friends of both as his fiancee. It was only when she saw he had determined to rid himself of her that she conceived the scheme of disfiguring him for life. While chatting over their dinner in the restaurant, Miss Jackson suddenly drew from her pocket a large mouthed bottle of oil of vitriol, and without saying a word dashed it into Fuller's face. He rolled off his chair on the floor as if he had been shot, writhing and groaning in agony. His friends had him removed to his rooms at the Occidental Hotel, while Miss Jackson was allowed to quietly return to her home. When it became known that Fuller would loose the sight of one eye, and perhaps of both, and retain on his face during his lifetime, the scars made by the vitriol, one of his friends determined, with Fuller's consent, to have Miss Jackson arrested. The skin and flesh on the left side of Fuller's face are eaten into by the burning liquid in a frightful manner, and when sloughing sets in the destruction of the tissues will probably be so great as to leave deep holes in the flesh. The victim is thirty-five years of age, of medium height and gentlemanly in appearance. Miss Jackson is a tall, handsome demi-blonde, 20 years of age, and so modest in appearance that no one would suspect her of being capable of committing so horrible a crime. Her friends have succeeded in finding bail in five thousand dollars and releasing her from prison.

U. S. Treasury Circular.

Special to THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 25.—The Secretary of the Treasury has issued a circular, published for the information of all concerned in the recent decision of Second Controller Maynard, in regard to compensation due the Central Pacific Railroad, for services rendered the government, and announcing in accordance therewith that the departmental circular of June 27th, 1883, and the circular of June 7th, 1884, are revoked, and that all compensation now due, or which may hereafter become due that railroad company, be covered in the treasury, and one half thereof be applied to the extinguishment of interest which has meanwhile accumulated on the government subsidy bonds, and the other half credited to the sinking fund as required by the Thurman act.

The U. S. Steamer Juniata.

Special to THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The U. S. steamer Juniata, which was sent to enquire into the detention of certain American vessels by Portuguese custom officials on the east coast of Africa has cabled her arrival at Mozambique. The subject of her mission has in the meantime been referred to the government at Lisbon.

The International Match.

Special to THE TIMES.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 25.—In the second day of the international cricket match the Philadelphians finished their first innings for 117 runs, against 192 made by the Englishmen in their first innings.

The Premier Being Watched.

The Montreal Herald, Conservative, says: Big Bear was found guilty of treason-felony, and sentenced to three years' imprisonment in Stony Mountain penitentiary. The verdict was qualified by a recommendation to mercy—why, it is difficult to conjecture. It is said that Factor MacLean and his family, who were for a time Big Bear's prisoners, were exerting themselves to prevent the Indian chief from being sentenced, but public opinion says the sentence is just. It will be strange indeed if, while Riel's tools are getting sentenced to the penitentiary, Riel himself should go scot free. The eyes of the people of the Dominion are fixed upon the premier, and watching every movement of the government in this connection.

The Czar has ordered the award of a great gold medal to Alvan Clark & Sons, of Cambridge, Mass., who manufactured the glass for the great telescope in the Russian observatory at Pulkowa, which is near St. Petersburg. This medal is rarely awarded. It is the first one ordered by the present Czar since his accession to the throne.

ANOTHER SMASH-UP.

A Construction Train Runs off the Track; One Man Killed, Several Wounded.

YALE, B. C., Sept. 25.

An accident occurred on Sunday last on the Canadian Pacific Railway, 50 miles east of Kamloops. A construction train while backing from the dump left the rails and went over a bank about ten feet in height. Peter Coldwell, an employee, was killed; several white laborers and Chinese were severely wounded. The damage to the rolling stock is not very serious.

A Miner Instantly Killed—A workman Seriously Injured.

Special to THE TIMES.

NANAIMO, Sept. 25.—A miner, named Hunt, was instantly killed in No. 1 shaft this morning by the fall of a rock.

A workman on the railway bridge over the Nanaimo river was seriously injured by a heavy bolt falling twenty-five feet and striking him on the top of the head.

The prospectus of the new Munster bank has been issued. The bank will have six directors, who shall have power to add to their number. The capital is £1,000,000, in £5 shares, of which £2 is to be paid at once. The bank undertakes to pay 15 shillings on the pound to creditors of the old bank before 1887, and to take over the whole assets, returning any surplus to the old creditors.

H. Matteson and H. Turner, San Francisco, are at the Occidental.

Mrs. Fred. Soues, of Clinton, went to Seattle yesterday on a short visit.

Mr. W. H. Dixon and wife, of St. Paul, are in the city and stopping at the Driard.

Mr. William Campbell who accompanied the Marquis of Lorne to this province in 1882, as private secretary, occupies a similar position with Lord Lansdowne.

Mr. W. H. Marshall of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, and Mrs. Marshall, arrived in the city to-day and are stopping at the Driard.

The Rev. H. B. Owen, of Quamichan, is leaving for his old home in Ontario, near Toronto, in a few weeks, where he will reside for the future.

Passengers for Victoria to-day by the Geo. E. Starr: Antoone, W H Smith, J H Marshall and wife, Dixon and son, C A Fuller, C Leiler, J Garlick, S Smith, E M Goss and wife, Mrs Lewis, N Polyano, W Hosford, Squazer.

The family of ex-Alderman Carter, of St. Catharines, Ont., arrived from the east yesterday, consisting of Mrs. Carter and five children. Mr. Carter has been in the province now some months and was so pleased with its climate, the people and our future prospects that he decided to make this province his future home. Mr. Carter is a practical builder and contractor of lengthened experience, possesses pluck, energy and perseverance, just the stamp of a man wanted in new countries. The trip from St. Catharines to Victoria was accomplished in less than seven days.

—Up to the present time nothing has been heard of the missing man George Coleman. A report was current on the street to-day that he had been seen this morning in the H. B. shaft, but in reply to enquiries made at the Prince of Wales saloon it was stated that he had not been found. The report evidently originated through mistaken identity. The search, which was kept up for a day or two, has apparently been discontinued. The general impression is that Coleman will not again be seen alive.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

IT is estimated that the stocks of provisions at Chicago have been reduced to about 125,000 barrels of pork, 58,000 tcs. of contract lard, and 24,000,000 pounds of short ribs.

THE Panama Star and Herald says: "We shall see in October the first section of the Panama Canal opened in its full length, breadth and depth. The first section will comprise a water way from Colon to near Tiger Hill, a distance of twelve kilometres."

WHAT appears to be Asiatic cholera, or a disease almost identical with it, is prevalent at Hantsport, a village of about 1000 inhabitants, near Halifax, Nova Scotia. Several families have already lost children and some adults have been carried off. Some of the residents have taken to flight. The water supplied to the wells is said to be very bad, and the drainage is worse.

THE French Canadians of Ottawa, through ex-Alderman CHABOT, have asked DONALD MCMASTER, Q. C., for his legal opinion on the constitutionality of procedure in the trial of RIEL. It is understood that MCMASTER holds similar views to those expressed by HON. WM. MCDOUGALL and others as to the Court being ultra vires. It is also stated that MCMASTER will probably assist RIEL's counsel before the Privy Council.

"WE have a railroad combination," says the Philadelphia Record (Ind.) "a coal combination, an oil combination and a coke combination, all more or less interlocked and dovetailed together to oppress and cheat the people of Pennsylvania by making dear for them the necessaries and comforts of life. Is it not time for the people themselves to combine without regard to party for the protection of their endangered rights and property?"

LAND is land in London. And it is very expensive land. A small vacant lot was required lately for street widening purposes. It was held under lease by the Stock Exchange, the lease having 76 years to run, and the rental apportioned to the parcel taken was £460 yearly. Over and above that rental the commissioners pay for the land £31,273, or about £35 10s. for each square foot. At the expiry of the lease the land reverts to the original owners. So that for the cash payment of £31,273 and the annual payment of £460 the commissioners get the use of this land for 76 years. If we estimate the money to be worth only three per cent., the net rental will be more than $10 per annum for each square foot.

HAMILTON Spectator: The genial climate of Canada has recently been attracting a large number of American gentlemen who have taken up permanent residence here. These gentlemen are desirable immigrants, inasmuch as, they bring plenty of money with them, and make good law-abiding citizens. Their enemies in the country they left say they are good here because they cannot go back again; but the jealous are not reliable witnesses. The immigrants exhibit the strongest liking for Canada, and although they are very much wanted at home, they prefer the glorious climate of Canada and the superior freedom of British American institutions. They stay with us.

THE report of the English Registrar-General for 1883, states that not only is the annual marriage-rate in England higher than in any other European country, with the exception of the German and Austro-Hungarian Empires, but the English marry at an earlier age than is the case in any other country except Russia. In Russia a very large proportion of the marriages are between boys and girls under twenty years of age, and it is stated that no less than sixty or seventy per cent of the conscripts, who cannot be over 21 years of age, are already married when they come to be enrolled in the army. The explanation given of this strange anomaly by M. PETRO SEMENOW is, that in Russia the population contains an enormous proportion of agriculturists, who are in the habit of marrying their sons at as early an age as possible in order to secure an additional female laborer. Putting aside this exceptional case of Russia, in no other country of which the statistics are given is the proportion of either male or female who are under 25 at the time of marriage so high as in England.

A NEW DEAL FOR THE C. P. R.

The latest deal of the Canadian Pacific is one of vast importance to the transportation trade of the Northwest. For months a strong feeling of bitterness existed between the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba railway—the President of which line—MR. J. J. HILL, was one of the first incorporators of the C. P. R. syndicate, and still is a heavy shareholder in its capital stock—and the Canadian Pacific Railway company, relative to a division of the charges levied on freight intended for points north of the boundary line. For a time the Canadian company declined to recognize any contracts made by the St. Paul road, either on freight or passenger account. After considerable negotiations the C. P. R. has secured for its Lake Superior section the whole of the Northwest traffic. This agreement binds the Manitoba road to cease taking passenger or freight traffic destined for Manitoba points from the lines in the Northwest traffic association at less than full local rates, thereby securing the traffic for the Canadian line. In consideration of this the Canadian Pacific agrees to pay the Manitoba road a certain percentage of the receipts from the traffic, and to cease competing with that road by the water route from Chicago. The St. Paul road secures a valuable ally, and a consideration which enables it to be independent of the traffic from Canadian points through United States territory to Manitoba and the Northwest. The Canadian Pacific secures the whole of this business without having any expensive and ruinous competition. Chicago papers, notably the Tribune, speaking in the interests of the roads forming the Northwest traffic association, threaten the Manitoba and Canadian Pacific with competition by the building of a new road to the frontier from St. Paul, and with the building of the Saskatchewan Valley railway, for which there is still a charter in existence. The Tribune claims that the Grand Trunk will obtain possession of this charter if it has not already done so, and build the line through itself. The Tribune even goes further and threatens the Manitoba line with the vengeance of Chicago roads. It suggests that they will withdraw all prorating arrangements on all kinds of business with the Manitoba, and charge the latter full tariff rates between St. Paul and Chicago. Up to a month or two ago the whole business between Chicago and St. Paul was in the hands of the Chicago and Northwestern, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and Chicago Rock Island and Pacific railways, who formed themselves into the Northwest Traffic association. But since that time the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy has built and leased roads which give it a direct entrance into St. Paul from Chicago and enables them to compete for this traffic. The Manitoba road has made strict alliance with the new road, and now is in no danger from the retaliation of the other roads. It is in fact entirely independent of them.

THE PACIFIC COAST SECTION.

The following article from the Montreal Gazette endorses the views expressed by THE TIMES on the 10th inst., relative to the Onderdonk contract on this coast. The Gazette generally voices the views of the government and its opinions are therefore entitled to consideration: The government section of the Pacific railway in British Columbia, reaching from Kamloops to Port Moody, is drawing to a completion, and in a short time a final settlement of the accounts between the contractor and the government must be made. It is of the first consequence that before the last payments are made it should be ascertained that the work performed by MR. ONDERDONK is fully up to the standard established in the contract, as otherwise the government may be mulcted for extra payments to a considerable amount that proper precaution at this time may avoid. The Canadian Pacific Railway company has accepted, as a part of its subsidy for the construction of the line from ocean to ocean, this government section in British Columbia, and has accepted it at the standard established in the ONDERDONK contract. It behooves the government, therefore, to see to it before the Kamloops-Port Moody section is taken over and the final payment made, the line is in every respect in accordance with the standard on which the contract was based. Unless this precaution is taken there is a danger that there will be pressed upon the government large claims for extras. If the British Columbia section, it might be said, is to attain as high a standard as the other portions of the line, supposing that ONDERDONK & Co. had not completed their work in accordance with the specifications, either the government or the Canadian Pacific company would have to undertake the expense thus involved. But if the contractor has performed his work up to the standard, there can be no hesitation on the part of the government in assuming the road, and, per consequence, no difficulty in declining to allow any further claim upon the public treasury, based on the contention that the line does not fulfil the conditions of the contract.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER addressed the Board of Trade, Toronto, regarding the Colonial and Indian Exhibition to be held in London, Eng., next year, explaining its advantages to Canada, and how it will cause a development of trade, etc. Canada has been assigned an entire transept of the building, equal to about fifty four thousand square feet. A resolution was passed deciding that Toronto take prominent part in the Canadian exhibit and relegating the matter to the Council Board to take whatever action may be necessary.

MR. GLADSTONE'S MANIFESTO.

The manifesto issued last week by MR. GLADSTONE to his Midlothian constituents is a document worthy of his great genius and ripe experience. It is no easy task now to hold the balance between the political parties level in Britain. Yet the manifesto preserves that wise mean between hide bound devotion to the past and visionary propositions of revolutionary changes for the present which should mark the policy of a party deserving the name of Liberal. The Radicals had practically seceded from the Whigs—as the controlling body of the Liberals are termed; party beliefs and tenets have been turned topsy-turvy. The leader of the Radicals, MR. CHAMBERLAIN, in his triumphal tour through the north, had announced the policy of his party. That programme, while going further in the direction of disestablishment and other radical changes, stops equally short with the policy of the Conservatives on the Irish question. The voice of MR. GLADSTONE is a trumpet call to all who are yet resolved to fight under the banner of a progressive Liberalism. Mutilated as its conclusions necessarily are in summarized form, they are of extreme interest and value. At last, before the country, in presence of an election, he throws aside all concealment and avows the true Liberal foreign policy. He is for the entire and final evacuation of Egypt and makes manly avowal of the mistakes into which the party was forced in the matter of the Soudan It is a rare instance of frankness in dealing with the people, which should have its reward. It needed no fresh announcement to show that he is devoted to a liberal land policy, the abolition of primogeniture and entail, the simplification of transfers, and the adjustment of land taxes on an equitable basis. For the Irish question he has evidently no new remedies, nothing save the steady advocacy of a larger freedom of action and a juster government, which it has been part of the work of the Liberal party to forward. There is more of honest meaning and honest promise in MR. GLADSTONE'S hope, with MR. GLADSTONE'S record behind it, than in all the wordy insincerity of the Conservative leaders. Disestablishment and the renovation of the House of Lords he evidently regards as fit subjects for legislation in that future which, in his suggestive words, "lies beyond his reach." And in fact there is most noticeable in the tone of his manifesto a conservative tendency which fits well the most liberal of statesmen when those who call themselves Conservatives have gone off masquerading in the most Radically-colored dominoes. To lead this campaign, with dissension within and mere unprincipled power in opposition, is no child's play even for MR. GLADSTONE. But his voice is as true as of old, and it is the one voice which England will honor herself by hearing only to follow and obey.

THERE is an impression abroad in Russia that the Anglo-Russian protocol is merely a temporary agreement. Very likely that is the case. History records few agreements between European powers that have been anything more than temporary.

MANY papers in this country have given circulation to the erroneous impression that the PRINCESS LOUISE was travelling under the name of LADY COWLEY, while there was already a LADY COWLEY in existence. She is not travelling under that name, but as the Countess of Cowal, to which title she has a lawful right by reason of marriage.

THE St. Paul Pioneer Press, in its comments on the Northern Pacific election, says: "It means that no faction found itself strong enough to attempt to carry out its particular programme against the others. The Oregon Railway and Navigation lease was not even discussed, which means that it will be consummated, and that work on the Cascade division will not be pushed with precipitation."

SIR Charles Tupper, with his intelligent and indefatigable endeavor, has called upon all the artists of Canada to contribute finished pictures or sketches for the Intercolonial exhibition to be held in London next spring. The movement has received a full propulsion in Montreal. I am told that our local artists have been called upon to contribute, but there is a whisper that one or two, among the best, have been left out. Let us hope that this is not true. If it is, we shall hear more about it.

THE condition of Spain is deplorable, and her troubles will not close when the cholera scourge has burned itself out. During the plague there have been about eighty thousand deaths, and this sudden and enormous withdrawal of labor from the country has paralyzed the agricultural industry. Crops remain unharvested in the most fertile districts of the Iberian peninsula, and grapes—the staple crop of Spain—are rotting in the vineyards because there is insufficient labor to harvest them. This enormous loss will be felt in all industrial centres of the country, and prices for food will rule high because of its scarcity.

THERE were twenty one failures in Canada reported to Bradstreet's during the past week, against seventeen in the preceding week, and twenty-three, fourteen and twenty-two in the corresponding weeks of 1884, 1883 and 1882, respectively. In the United States there were one hundred and eighty-three failures reported during the week as compared with one hundred and sixty-nine in the preceding week and with one hundred and eighty, one hundred and thirty-six and one hundred and thirty nine, respectively in the corresponding weeks of 1884 1883, and 1882. About eighty-three per cent. were those of small traders whose capital was less than $5,000.

IN LUCK AT LAST

BY WALTER BESANT.

There really was something nautical about the look of the man. His wore a black silk tie, in a sailor's running knot, the ends loose; his waistcoat was unbuttoned, and his coat was a kind of jacket; not to speak of his swinging walk and careless pose. In fact, he had been a sailor; he had made two voyages to India and back, as assistant purser, or purser's clerk, on board a P. and O. boat, but some disagreement with his commanding officer concerning negligence, or impudence, or drink, or laziness—he had been charged in different situations and at different times with all these vices, either together or separately—caused him to lose his rating on the ship's books. However, he brought away from his short nautical experience, and preserved, a certain nautical swagger, which accorded well with his appearance, and gave him a swashbuckler air, which made those who knew him well lament that he had not graced the Elizabethan era, when he might have become a gallant buccaneer, and so got himself shot through the head, or that he had not flourished under the reign of good Queen Anne, when he would probably have turned pirate and been hanged; but that, being born in the Victorian age, he had not gone to the Far West, where he would, at least, have had the chance of getting shot in a gambling saloon.

"As for me, when I get the business," he continued, "I shall look about for some one to carry it on until I am able to sell it for what it will fetch. Books at a penny apiece all round, I suppose"—James gasped—"shop furniture thrown in"—James panted—"and the goodwill for a small, lump sum." James wondered how far his own savings, and what he could borrow, might go towards that lump sum, and how much might "remain." "My grandfather, as you know, of course, is soon going to retire from business altogether." This was another lie absolute, as Mr. Emblem had no intention whatever of retiring.

"Soon, Mr. Joseph! He has never said a word to me about it."

"Very soon, now—sooner than you expect. At seventy-five, and with all his money, why should he go on slaving any longer? Very soon, indeed. Any day."

"Mr. Joseph," the assistant positively trembled with eagerness and apprehension.

"What is it, James? Did you really think that a man like me was going to sit in a back shop among these mouldy volumes all day? Come, that's too good. You might have given me credit for being one cut above a counter, too. I am a gentleman, James, if you please; I am an officer and a gentleman."

He then proceeded to explain, in language that smacked something of the sea, that his ideas soared far above trade, which was, a low, a contemptible occupation, and quite unworthy of a gentleman, particularly an officer and a gentleman; and that his personal friends would never condescend even to formal acquaintance, not to speak of friendship, with trade. This discourse may be omitted. When one reads about such a man as Joe Gallop, when we are told how he looked and what he said and how he said it, with what gestures and in what tone, we feel as if it would be impossible for the simplest person in the world to be mistaken as to his real character. My friends, especially my young friends, so far from the discernment of character being easy, it is, on the contrary, an art most difficult, and very rarely attained. Nature's indications are a kind of handwriting, the characters in which are known to few, so that, for instance, the quick, inquiring glance of an eye, in which one may easily read—who knows the character—treachery, lying and deception, just as in the letter Beth was originally easily discerned the effigies of a house, may very easily pass unread by the multitude. The language, or rather the alphabet, is much less complicated than the cuneiform of the Medes and Persians, yet no one studies it, except women, most of whom are profoundly skilled in this lore, which makes them so fearfully and wonderfully wise. Thus it is easy for man to deceive his brother man, but not his sister woman. Again, most of us are glad to take everybody on his own state ments; there are, or may be, we are all ready to acknowledge, with sorrow for erring humanity, somewhere else in the world, such things as pretending, swindling, acting a part and cheating, but they do not and cannot belong to our own world. Mr. James, the assistant, very well knew that Mr. Emblem's grandson had already, though still young, as bad a record as could be desired by any; that he had been turned out of one situation after another; that his grandfather had long since refused to help him any more; that he was always to be found in the broad path which leadeth to destruction. When he had money he ran down that path as fast as his legs could carry him; when he had none, he only walked and wished he could run. But he never left it, and never wished to leave it. Knowing all this, the man accepted and believed every word of Joe's story. James believed it, because he hoped it. He listened respectfully to Joe's declamation on the meanness of trade, and then he rubbed his hands, and said humbly that he ventured to hope, when the sale of the business came on, Mr. Joseph would let him have a chance.

"You? cried Joe. "I never thought of you. But why not? Why not, I say? Why not you as well as anybody else?"

"Nobody but me, Mr. Joseph, knows what the business is, and how it might be improved, and I could make arrangements for paying by regular instalments."

"Well, we'll talk about it when the time comes. I won't forget. Sailors, you know, can't be expected to understand the value of shops. Say, James, what does the Commodore do all day?"

"Sits in there and adds up his investments."

"Always doing that—eh! Always adding 'em up! Ah! and you've never got a chance of looking over his shoulder, I suppose?"

"Never."

"You may find that chance, one of these days. I should like to know, if only for curiosity, what they are and where they are. He sits in there and adds 'em up. Yes—I've seen him at it. There must be thousands by this time."

"Thousands," said the assistant, in the belief that the more you add up a sum the larger it grows.

Joe walked into the back shop and tried the sofa.

"Where are the keys?" he asked.

"Always in his pocket or on the table before him. He doesn't leave them about."

"Or, you'd be known pretty sharp all there is to know—eh, my lad? Well, you're a Foxy one, you are, if ever there was one. Let's be pals, you and me. When the old man goes, you want the shop—well, I don't see why you shouldn't have the shop; somebody must have the shop, and it will be mine to do what I please with. As for his savings, he says they are all for Iris—well, wills have been set aside before this. Do you think now, seriously, do you think, James, that the old man is quite right—eh? Don't answer in a hurry. Do you think, now, that he is quite right in his cupola?"

James laughed.

"He's right enough, though to throw away his chances."

"Throws away his chances! How the deuce can he be all right then? Did you ever hear of a bookseller in his right mind throwing away his chances?"

"Why—no—for that matter—"

"Very well, then; for that matter, don't forget that you've seen him throw away all his chances—all his chances, you said. You are ready to swear to that. Most important evidence, that, James." James had not said "all," but he grunted, and the other man went on: "It may come in useful, this recollection. Keep your eyes wide open, my red-haired pirate. As for the mouldy old shop, you may consider it as good as your own. Why, I suppose you'll get somebody else to handle the paste-brush and scissors, and tie up the parcels, and water the shop—eh! You'll be too proud to do that for yourself, you will."

Mr. James grinned and rubbed his hands.

"All your own—eh! Well, you'll wake 'em up a bit, won't you?"

Mr. James grinned again—he continued grinning.

"Go on, Mr. Joseph," he said; "go on—I like it."

"Consider the job as settled, then. As for terms, they shall be easy; I'm not a hard man. And—I say, Foxy, about that safe?"

DOMESTIC LIFE

AS SEEN IN GERMANY BY A YOUNG LADY TRAVELER.

Simplicity of the Household Machinery—A Curious Custom—Meals and Meal-time—A Servant Girl's Wages—Tenacious of Their Titles.

[Cor. New York Christian Advocate.]

The domestic machinery of the Germans is much simpler than ours, and in many respects more economical and practical. One truth is soon made apparent to a stranger, that is, that economy is a necessity in Germany. In a family of seven there is usually but one servant. She rises at 5, makes the kitchen fire, washes the floor and puts her own room in order. At 6 the baker comes, then the man with milk and butter (the Germans never put salt in their butter, so they buy it fresh every morning). The children are awakened, and the maid helps them to dress, then makes the coffee and serves it, first to the older children, who are obliged to be off for school at 6:30 in summer and 7 in the winter. This done, in our family, the maid puts my sitting-room in order, washing the floor, dusting the furniture and shaking the rugs. At 7 we have coffee and by 7:30 I am ready to begin my work. After the rest of the family are served with coffee and rolls, the sleeping and other rooms are put in order, each being washed or waxed and rugs thoroughly beaten; then the maid goes to the market to buy the dinner. There are no supplies in larder in Germany as at home. If cold boiled ham or any cold meat is needed for supper, the maid goes to the butcher and buys just enough for the meal.

A custom that struck me curiously was that of having shops in the basements of even the handsomest houses on the most fashionable streets—butchers, bakers, shoemakers, notion stores, jewelers, all who can be found within a radius of a block from any given point. It is undoubtedly convenient for the people, but it mars the beauty of the streets very much. My maid has gone to market I believe, so by this time she has returned and is preparing the second breakfast, which is served at 11, and consists of a couple of eggs and a slice of brown bread, and perhaps a glass of milk for a boarder; but for the children and the rest of the family it is usually only a slice of brown bread an inch and a half thick with a little cold meat. Occasionally a cup of chocolate varies the monotony.

Then comes the dinner at 2—soup, meat and vegetables, and dessert, the latter the children only are allowed to have on Sundays. After the soup has been served the lady of the house puts what she intends for the maid in a dish, and on no account would a servant be allowed to take more than had been given her. The same plan is followed with meat and vegetables. After the dinner dishes are washed, and the kitchen put in order, the maid dresses and takes the children out for a walk in the park, returning in time for a 4 o'clock coffee, which even the little 3-year-old boy of my landlady drank every day. It was a problem to me how these children kept their health, with coffee in the morning and afternoon and at night. I am sure American children could not endure it.

At 8 supper is eaten; cold meats, tea or milk or beer and bread and butter compose the meal. The laundry work is always done out of the house; so that lessens the work of the one maid very materially. All bread, cake, pies, and even puddings, are bought ready-made—as we say of clothes. The bread is much better than ours, because it is always thoroughly done.

A good maid is not paid more than $20 a year, and in many families only $12. They are allowed one Sunday evening out in two weeks, and if they should come home later than they have promised, they do not go out again for a month. All disputes between mistress and maid are settled by the police. In one house I was in the quarrels were so frequent that one policeman, at least, was there most of the time.

German women are much interested in their housekeeping; they obey their husbands religiously, because they have to, and are very fond of fancy work and—gossip! They are very tenacious of their titles, and if a lady's husband is a doctor or professor, and you do not call her Frau Doctor or Frau Professor, you offend her mortally. I told my German teacher that I had some friends in Berlin whom I had met some years ago in Rome, and asked how I should address the lady, as I was going there to dine. I thought the gentleman's title was Justizirath; then I must call her Frau Justizirath. "But," I said, "she is also Geheimerath." "Oh, then, that is still higher, and she must be called Frau Geheimerath." Later on in this conversation I mentioned that he was also professor in the university. The look of amazement and surprise I got, and the way in which she said, "How lucky that you told me; you must call her Frau Professor," convinced me that I would have made a serious mistake if I had used either of the first mentioned titles.

Washing Clothes Without Boiling.

[Cor. Minneapolis Housekeeper.]

I first sort my white clothes, then make my suds just as I do for any washing. I then put the water into the tub, and put into the water a lump of sal-soda or concentrated lye—just enough to soften the water, (I use a little in rain water too); then I take the cleanest pieces and wet them, lay them on the wash-board, and rub soap on them, being careful to rub the soiled and stained parts well; then roll up tightly just as if I were going to boil and serve the entire load the same way, then I cover them all up in the tub by spreading a blanket or oil cloth over to keep the water warm, and leave them a half hour. I then rub them out after putting in some more warm water.

Change the water as often as it becomes too dirty to do good work, keeping it warm by dipping out the dirty water and putting in clean hot water, then make a suds in another tub, rub them out in this while the colored clothes are soaking in tub number one, rinse and hang out. I do not boil them at all. I sometimes find some pieces that are too soiled to yield all their stains in one soaking; in that case soak and roll them up again. I do not use any soap in the second suds at all. You can use any kind of soap. We usually buy our soap, and use a great deal of Kirkly; but I find one kind works just as well this way as another. Now, sisters, try this way; I am confident of the results. I use this method to wash out the many little things that we do not resort to tubs and wait for wash days for—ribbons, handkerchiefs, stockings, mittens, etc., and find it works like a charm.

Not To-Night.

No, madam, your boy is not wandering to-night. He sits in the parlor, glued to the old arm-chair and Belinda's lips, while the old man vainly listens to hear him wander.

GRAND

Colonial Exhibition!

IN LONDON, ENGLAND, 1886.

Fifty-four Thousand Feet Reserved for Canada.

First Royal Exhibition Commission since 1862.

THE Colonial and Indian Exhibition to be held in London, England, commencing May 1st, 1886, is intended to be on a scale of great magnitude, having for object to mark an epoch in the relations of all the parts of the British Empire with each other.

In order to give becoming significance to the event a Royal Commission is issued for the holding of this Exhibition, for the first time since 1862; and His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has been appointed President by Her Majesty.

The very large space of 54,000 square feet has been allotted to the Dominion of Canada by command of the President, His Royal Highness.

The Exhibition is to be purely Colonial and Indian, and no competition from the United Kingdom or from foreign nations will be permitted, the object being to exhibit to the world at large what the Colonies can do.

The earnest opportunity every effort to Canada is thus afforded to show the distinguished place she occupies, by the progress she has made in AGRICULTURE, in HORTICULTURE, in INDUSTRIAL and FINE ARTS, in the MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES, in the NEWEST IMPROVEMENTS IN MANUFACTURING MACHINERY and IMPLEMENTS, in PUBLIC WORKS by MODELS and DESIGNS. Also in an adequate display of her vast resources in the FISHERIES, and in FOREST and MINERAL wealth, and also in SHIPPING.

All Canadians of all parties and classes are invited to come forward and vie with each other in endeavoring on this great occasion to put Canada in her true place as the premier colony of the British Empire, and to establish her proper position before the world.

Every farmer, every manufacturer, and every manufacturer, has interest in assisting, it having been already demonstrated that extension of trade always follows such efforts.

ATTEMPTED MURDER.

A Chinaman Stabbed by Companions Perhaps Fatally.

A Chinaman, named Ngan Shee Ying, was arrested by Officer Grant yesterday afternoon, on a charge of attempted murder. Three Chinamen—the prisoner, Chan Ah'ng and Wong Ting Lap—left the city yesterday morning for the six-mile camp, near Parson's bridge. They had all recently arrived from the mainland, where they had been working on the railway, and the object of their visit to the Island Railway camp was to get letters from China, which the first two said were there for Wong Ting Lap. When about half way, on the Craigflower road, Wong Ting was set upon by his companions, one of them plunging a knife, nearly a foot long into his back. The knife reached the spinal vertebræ, and produced a wound that will probably prove fatal. Wong's person was then searched by his murderous assailants, and a large sum of money—stated to be $1300—was secured. Chan Ah'ng ran away and up to the present time has not been captured. Ngan Wong succeeded in finding his way back to the city, as also did Agan Shee Ying, who was shortly afterwards arrested. He was brought before Mr. E. Johnson this morning, and remanded for three days. The wounded man was attended to by Dr. Taylor, and is in a critical condition. The prisoner is one of the lowest specimens of the Mongol race, and his accomplice, who used the knife and escaped, is described as still more vicious in appearance.

From Cassiar.

Mr. J. F. Calibreath, of Glenora, was a passenger by the Idaho. He reports the mining interests of Cassiar in a prosperous condition. A large quantity of gold has been taken out, and many of the miners will find themselves at the end of the season in better circumstances than for several years past. Wages are very high and men scarce. An unusually large business has been done by the pack trains. Mr. John Grant, M.P.P., for the district met with a hearty reception from his old mining friends; he will start for Victoria on the 10th of October, the canoes having been ordered for that date. Mr. Calibreath went on to Portland by the Idaho, and thence goes direct to New York by the Northern Pacific. At present it is not his intention to return again to British Columbia, although it is not improbable that his three years residence at Glenora has so favorably impressed him that life in the east will be almost unendurable and he may change his mind in that respect.

From Dease Creek it is reported that good claims are being found in the hills, with fair prospects that quite a number of that character will be opened and worked profitably. The health of the camps was good, and most of the miners will winter there. The summer has been a dry one.

On the Stickeen river the crops of grain and vegetables have been such as would make the heart of the average farmer of British Columbia envious. The potato crop, in quantity and quality, could not be excelled in the province.

Football.

A meeting was held on Wednesday night at the rooms of the Cathedral Institute for the purpose of organizing a Rugby Union Football Club for the city. Mr. Herbert Jones occupied the chair and Mr. H. J. Campbell acted as secretary. About twenty lovers of the sport were present, and after some discussion Messrs H. Jones, H. G. Playfield and F. G. Walker, were appointed to draft a constitution for the club and report to a general meeting to be held at the same place at 8 p.m. on Monday next. All who desire to join the club are invited to be present at this meeting, when the formal organization will be proceeded with and officers elected. A practice game will be played on Saturday, at Beacon Hill, commencing at 3:30 p.m., and a series of matches with the Royal Navy is projected.

The Victoria Theatre Co.

A general meeting of the shareholders of Victoria Theatre company will be held to-night. The capital stock of this company is $50,000, which was all subscribed on the understanding that only fifty per cent would be called in. Additions to the original plan of the building have largely increased the estimated cost, and by the time it is finally finished and furnished the sum of $70,000 will have been expended. The architect, in making these improvements, acted under the sanction of the board of directors, and he has undoubtedly succeeded in erecting a block that is an ornament to the city and a credit to the enterprising shareholders. The balance of the stock will probably require to be called in and the meeting to-night is to arrange that and some other matters of importance.

Arrival of the Idaho.

The steamship Idaho, Captain Carroll, arrived at 5 p. m. yesterday from Alaska. She brought down about $70,000 from the Treadwell mine, the output of fifteen days work. But for the failure of the water supply the yield would have been much greater. Twelve thousand dollars in gold dust was also brought from Juneau and Cassiar. There is no news of importance from the north. The weather was foggy and rainy, and the tourists, although immensely pleased with the trip, did not view the wonderful scenery of the northern coast at the best time. Senator Jones and family, ex-Governor Kincaid, Judge McAllister, Mr. Calibreath and others were passengers, and continued their voyage on the Idaho to Portland.

The Cascade Branch of the N. P. R.

It is learned that on the Cascade branch from South Prairie to Green river there is required but four miles more track, and that will be finished in about six weeks. Considerable difficulty has been experienced in building the road, owing to the obstacles presented by the peculiar formation of the territory along the line. Within a distance of seven miles Green river is crossed seven times by means of the Howe truss. The country is very much broken, and the banks of the river are often found to be perpendicular. It is estimated that about $60,000 is being expended monthly on this work. The information has been given that a branch line three miles in length will be built down to the Black Diamond coal fields.

Mr. Zed. S. Hall, New Westminster.

Visitors to the Provincial Exhibition, in New Westminster, on the 1st and 2nd of October, should not fail to call on Mr. Zed. S. Hall, whose stock of books, stationery, fancy goods, etc., will be found most complete. Mr. Hall sells cheap, attends to his business personally, and is satisfied with small "profits and quick returns," believing that to be the true principle for carrying on a business. During the fair week he will make special reductions and those in want of bargains in his line should make a note of this fact. Remember the place, directly opposite the Colonist hotel.

CARIBOO NOTES.

Fall Assizes—Presentment of Jury—Presentation to Mrs. Walkem.

(Hon. Mr. Justice Walkem presiding.)

RICHFIELD, Sept. 17.

The fall assizes were held on the 14th instant, by Mr. Justice Walkem. There were only two cases before the grand jury, and one of these was thrown out. The other, that of a Chinese for stealing some articles belonging to Mr. Reid, M. P., was disposed of by the prisoner pleading guilty.

Harry McDermott, one of our oldest and most respected residents, was naturalized.

An appeal from a Chinaman, fined for mining without a $15 license, under the Chinese Regulation Act, 1884, was then brought up. He had been tried and fined by two magistrates. He then appealed to the County Court, and Judge Harrison dismissed the appeal, on the ground that the question involved was one of taxation, which the local legislature had no right to deal with. Mr. Justice Walkem decided that the appeal to the County Court was final, and that he had no jurisdiction to deal with the case except it was brought before him in a different way than by appeal.

Before the assizes closed the grand jury made the following

ADDRESS.

To the Honorable Mr. Justice Walkem: May it please Your Lordship—The grand jury desire to make the following presentment:

The building now used as the common gaol at Richfield has, from age, become unfit for use. The rottenness of the logs renders it unsafe for prisoners, and the medical officer of the Royal Cariboo Hospital has pronounced it to be a very unhealthy place for criminals to serve a lengthened or even temporary sentence in. We would, therefore, ask you to urge the local government to have a fit and proper gaol built, and on a site where the new Court house would not be endangered from fire.

While we receive in the spirit of great thankfulness the appropriation last session of the sum of $750 for repairs to the hospital, yet we cannot but think it would be a great pity to spend the amount in patching up an old building that has seen service for nearly a quarter of a century, and has become rotten and unhealthy. We would therefore recommend that the sum voted for repairs be appropriated for building purposes, and that to this be added the sum of $2500.

We are pleased to have this opportunity of extending to you again a hearty welcome to Cariboo, and we are delighted to see you accompanied by Mrs. Walkem, whose courage in braving the storms and discomforts of travel at this season of the year in order to visit the scenes and friends of your earlier days, we duly appreciate; and we sincerely hope that the health of herself and daughter has not suffered from the inclemency of the weather.

Since the question of domiciling the Supreme Court Judges has been settled, we are glad to find that you are the nearest to us on the mainland, and we therefore hope that we may have the pleasure of seeing you more frequently in future. We wish you a safe and pleasant journey home.

(Signed) W. W. DODD, Foreman.

The learned judge acknowledged, in a feeling manner, the warm welcome extended to him and his family, and thanked the jury on his and their behalf for the sentiments thus expressed.

Mrs. Walkem was subsequently presented, by a committee of miners chosen by the contributors, with a lot of handsome gold specimens, which she was asked to accept as a memento of her visit and of the pleasure it had given the community. The present was gratefully acknowledged both on account of the feelings which prompted it and its intrinsic value. In the evening the members of the band, some of whom had come from a distance, serenaded Mrs. Walkem, and afterwards serenaded Mrs. Reid, the wife of the member of the district in the Commons, who was also a visitor to the mines for the first time. The judge and his family left two days ago for Clinton.

The weather has been unusually bad. A few hydraulic claims expect to do well before the season closes, as they have now plenty of water.

Becoming Alarmed.

A Chinese firm in Portland received a dispatch from Lewiston, stating that agents had been sent over to Pierce City to investigate the reported hanging of five Chinamen there. It is said that one of the men hung was a wealthy Chinese merchant named Gove Nam, who had just closed out his business and was about to return to China. The Chinese on the coast are somewhat troubled about the late outrages at Rock Springs, Coal Creek and Pierce City on their countrymen, and evidently fear that they may be repeated on a larger scale at San Francisco by the crank O'Donnell and his disciples.

Silver Medals.

The St. Andrews and Caledonian Society have procured a couple of silver medals to be presented to Masters W. J. McKay and Chas. J. Sheppard, prize-takers at their gathering in this city last July, for highland costume. These medals were engraved by Mr. W. H. Phillips, corner of Broad St. and Trounce alley, and are excellent specimens of his artistic capabilities. The name of the receiver and the class in which the prize was taken is on one side, while on the other are the names of the societies and the date, July 4, 1885.

The Provincial Exhibition.

Intending exhibitors and visitors from this city at the Provincial exhibition to be held in New Westminster next week should bear in mind that goods must be on the wharf of the C. P. N. Co., on Tuesday evening to avoid confusion and delay on Wednesday morning. Those desirous of being present at the exhibition on Thursday will require to leave here on the Wednesday morning boat. With commendable liberality the company have reduced the tariff for passengers and freight to half the regular rates.

Services Acknowledged.

At the synagogue last night Mr. Morris Moss, honorary secretary of the Emanuel congregation, was presented with a handsome ornamental cane, as a recognition of the valuable assistance he has given the congregation, and the deep interest he has always evinced in its welfare and prosperity. Mr. Lewis Lewis, President, made the presentation, and Mr. E. J. Salmon read the address.

The Granite Creek Mines.

A special dispatch from Hope says there is nothing new to note from the Granite Creek mines. People in large numbers are still rushing in.

A Rare Opportunity.

Dr. Mintie, of San Francisco, who is admitted to be the most successful specialist on the Pacific Coast, is now represented in this city. The rooms of the doctor are at the Oriental hotel, where consultation may be had free.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Welcoming Lord Lansdowne.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES.

SIR,—In the discussion on the best means to be adopted to welcome the Governor-General, only two suggestions seem to have been made—to give him a big dinner, and erect triumphal arches. Would it not be a better plan, in order that the reception might be general, to proclaim a public holiday, and try and have the men-of-war give an exhibition off Beacon Hill. All the citizens could enjoy such a celebration, but if the reception consists of a big feed, only those can participate who are aristocratic enough to get invitations, and rich enough to "shell out" the price of the tickets.

CIVIS.

Funeral of the Late Mr. Charles.

The funeral of the late John Charles took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, from the residence of Mr. Wm. Charles, father of the deceased. A large number of the friends of the family were present to show their last mark of respect to the departed. The beautifully solemn and impressive English church services for the dead were read, and the mortal remains were consigned to their last resting place in the "silent city" on Ross Bay. The Lord Bishop of Columbia officiated, and H. D. Helmcken, W. C. Ward, T. Tye, Arthur Jones, E. Crowe Baker, S. Y. Wootten acted as pall-bearers.

The Burgh Mystery.

Richard A. Proctor the young man held on a charge of murdering Burgh and appropriating his sloop and other property, was brought before Mr. Johnson to-day and again remanded for eight days, awaiting the arrival of the Boscowitz. John Moore who went up north to investigate, returned on the Idaho, having failed to obtain any information that would throw light on the mystery.

Another Branch Completed.

The O. R. & N. Co. have completed the branch line from Colfax, W. T., to Moscow, I. T., and the Moscowites rejoice greatly thereat. The new line is now ready for business. It is twenty-eight miles long, and has been under construction about fifty-seven days, seven days less than the time estimated to finish it. It is standard gauge.

Maple Bay Show.

The Cowichan show will be held at Maple Bay to-morrow. A considerable number, it is said, intend going north in the Amelia in the morning to be present at the exhibition. The Amelia will leave Turner & Beeton's wharf at 7 a. m. and returning will reach this port at an early hour in the evening. Fare for round trip only $2.

—Work on the Island Railway continues to progress with gratifying rapidity. Construction trains are now running six miles at the Esquimalt end and about twenty miles at the Nanaimo end of the track. Next week the iron horse will be waking the echoes at Goldstream.

—Portland Oregonian: Hibbs has his feet once more on his native soil, but that fact does not afford him so much satisfaction as it does Inspector Murphy who has expended much time and been to great trouble in bringing him to punishment.
